

Martina Gruber

Hemisphere Diagnosis with Reflex-Zone Biofeedback

A Holistic Diagnostic and Therapy System

The Biopulsar-Reflexograph Biofeedback System is a highly sensitive, biomedical measuring instrument, certified according to the European Medical products Regulations CE class II a. The Biopulsar system is based on the most modern high-tech computer and ancient knowledge. The Biofeedback sensor is a receiver for high resolving bio-medical signals, which are taken from the reflex zones of the hand. Opposite to the Kirlian photography, which works with high frequencies. In the Biopulsar there are only low currents used for the measuring on the skin resistance.

During the measuring no harmful or disturbing impulses are inflicted on the body, ensuring an unadulterated reading. Each of the circa 48 biomedical sensors is an interface, which routes the measured biofeedback parameter of each organ zone every 500 milliseconds (synaptic real-time measuring) to the PC. This data is then processed and shown throughout the software in different graphic presentation like biofeedback graphics, aura colours of the organs, dynamic chakra activity, etc.

A complex whole body measurement takes no longer than 1-2 minutes. Disrobing is not necessary. As well, no alien or outside energy influences on the measurements because the therapist does not touch the patient.

The practitioner receives in a short time and in a simple visually clear form the individual syndrome diagnosis of the total organ network of the client's body. Through the organ biofeedback and the dynamic whole body aura, both the practitioner and the patient can see concrete evidence regarding the patient's vitality as well her/his physical and psychological constitution. The verifiable results cover not only the subjective feelings of the patient, but also extensively relates to the physical manifestation part with the results of MRT and CT.

Although the diagnostic approach and classification of illnesses differ in the medicine systems of the Eastern and Western world, the results of the measurements are simple to interpret by the therapist, because the energy flow of the organ is at the same time also the energy language of the organ.

Because of the simplicity to interpret energetic signatures of the organ, a diagnosis through any teaching system can be easily drawn up.

For these complex vitality evaluations there are different Biopulsar software programs that deliver extensive therapy recommendations from traditional Eastern and Western medicine teachings. A big help for the practitioner is the "Therapy Assistant Software", with extensive alternative medicine and psychological explanations, pictures and animation for the individual organs. There are therapy suggestions from the classic homeopathy, Bach Flower remedies, acupuncture, nutrition, phyto-therapy (plant therapy), pharmaceutical preparations and much more is offered. Several alternative practitioners with many combined years of practical experience verified the therapy recommendations.

The Basis of the Biofeedback Measuring

Reflex zones or somatotopien (from the Greek soma = body and topos = place, area, point) are areas on the surface of the skin or mucous membrane, which show connections to the internal organs and body structures. The interpretation of the energetic condition of the reflex zone serves for the diagnosis of the condition of the internal organs and the psyche.

Through goal directed therapies, like the Chromalive Colour Therapy on the reflex zones, there can be an interaction with the internal organs. Energetic blockages can be dissolved so that healing energy flows to the organ. Also the pathological psychic patterns, which are stored in the organ, can then be dissolved.

MARTINA GRUBER

The Functioning of the Biofeedback Measuring

The patient simply places his hand on the appropriate measuring sensor, which matches the person's palm size. Because the reflex zones correspond in proportion to the internal organs, the surface measurements are larger than specific acupuncture points.

Several years of biofeedback research has proven that in comparison measurements with the Biopulsar-Reflexograph and skin resistance measurements on terminal points (EAV = electro acupuncture according to Voll) there exists a close connection between the energy of the reflex zone and the meridians. It seems that the meridians over the different reflex zones on the body surface open, because the skin resistance measuring of both different systems show a similar energy ratio. The scientific connection of this is not yet known.

I have further discovered, through the many medial tests with aura seers, that the dynamic of the biofeedback measuring not only corresponds to the Ayurvedic and Chinese pulse-diagnosis, but also to the Aura and Chakra activity.

In summary, through my biofeedback research I came to the following conclusion:

- Meridians open on reflex zones, which are on the surface of the skin.

- Reflex zone measurements are indirect meridian measurements.
- The values of the hand reflex zones also reflect themselves in other reflex zone systems as the iris, ears, teeth and feet, etc.
- The reflex zone biofeedback corresponds to the Eastern pulse-diagnosis.
- The reflex zone biofeedback not only shows a person's constitution, but also the cosmic element dynamics that the person is made of (according to the Eastern medicine teachings).
- Through the reflex zone biofeedback one can measure the Aura and the Chakras and show them realistically.

Subjective Feeling of Illness is now provable.

There are many people who do not feel healthy and complain about undiagnosable problems, like sleep disturbances, irritability, not feeling well, exhaustion, sensitivity to weather changes, headaches, dizziness, high susceptibility to infections, backache, etc. Only by a small margin of these symptoms can be measured or diagnosed through conventional medical means, because no pathological blood and lab values or differences in X-ray pictures show these types of symptoms. The Biopulsar-Reflexograph's subtle dynamic organ biofeedback and also the whole body Aura picture are shown graphically. The Biopulsar's screen presentation are easy to understand by both the practitioner and patient and the disharmonies in the energy system correspond exactly with the subjective feelings of the patient.

Prevention of Illness

Disharmonies in the body's energy distribution develop long before it becomes a physical organ manifestation. This is also the reason why patients complain about symptoms, even if the lab tests clearly show in the normal range.

The advantage of the Biopulsar-Reflexograph is, that the technology shows energetic organ changes long before the organ manifestation and therefore can be used for the prevention of illness.

Vitality, Organ Pulse and Elements in the Biofeedback

The life energy, also called "Chi" or "Prana", flows in the invisible meridian system through the body and supplies all organs with vitality. The life energy is not static, but dynamic and subject to fluctuations. Internal influences (e.g. bad nutrition, negative thoughts, illness) and external influences (e.g. climate, time of year, people, work, environment) consume life energy. The dynamic course of the life energy is shown with the Biopulsar's reflex zone biofeedback.

Aura and Vitality Grading

On the vitality scale you can see the states of the organ's life energy. If the biofeedback graph runs above the fourth graduation mark (60), it shows energetic fullness, blockage, stress, and acute processes. If the curve is below 60, that means there is an energetic weakness and chronic, energy consuming processes. In the area of 20 and below the energy deficiency is very imprinted. (Picture 1)

Dynamics of the Biofeedback Graph Line

The biofeedback graph line represents the flow of the life energy in the organ. The course of the graph line with its fine amplitudes corresponds to the organ pulse wave. In the organ pulse one can see with little expert knowledge the behaviour and the distribution of the cosmic elements, of which the person—according to the Eastern medicine doctrines—consists.

Vitality, pulse wave and element behaviour give information about the organ and overall constitution of a person. From this one can derive a person's physical and psychological illness disposition.

If the graph runs straight on the middle vitality axis, where none or very few fluctuations show, then there is internal equilibrium and stability. (Picture 2a)

If occasionally some small amplitudes exist, but the graph line runs fairly straight, then it shows a heightened astral sensitivity, whereby the energy can still be held even in stressful situations. (Picture 2b)

Strong energy fluctuations and high amplitudes show that the energy situation of the organ is very unstable. The organ cannot manage the stress. To get the energy back it withdraws from other organs. This reaction causes the general life energy to be reduced. (Unstable air principle—Ayurveda: Vata-Dosha). (Picture 2c)

If after a short measuring the energy from a higher energy stage crashes (cannot be held where the graph line falls down), then there exists a chronic weakness in this organ area. A little exertion causes the energy to quickly drop. This graph line behaviour points mostly to an inflamed process resultant of an energetic emptiness in this organ area. (TCM: Emptiness-Fire, Ayurveda: Vata-Pitta-Dosha). (Picture 2d)

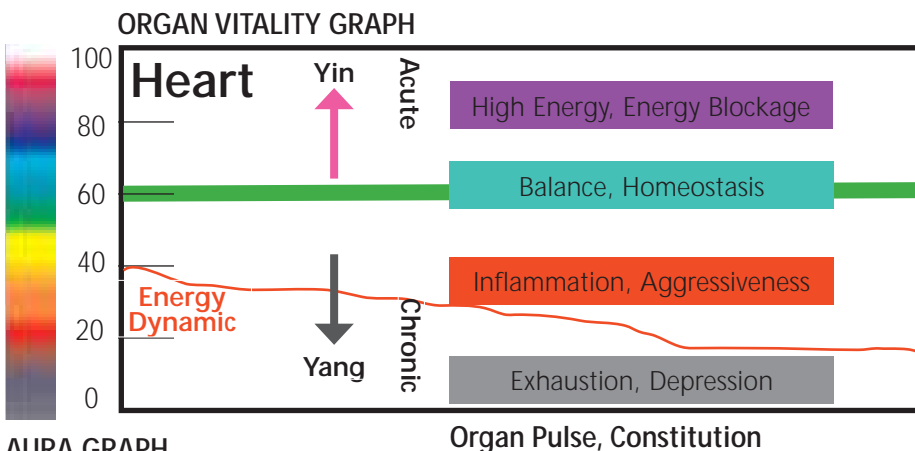

The Eastern Pulse Diagnostic.

According to the more than 5,000 year old Chinese and East Indian medicine teachings a person consists of five elements, which steers his bodily and psychological condition. These are the elements of the earth, water, fire, air and ether. Because these elements consist of cosmic particles, they are invisible to the physical eye, but their effect on body and psyche is clearly visible.

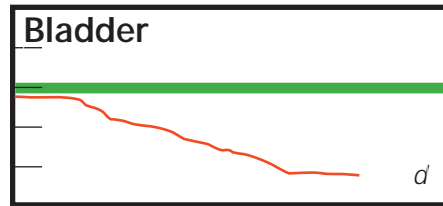

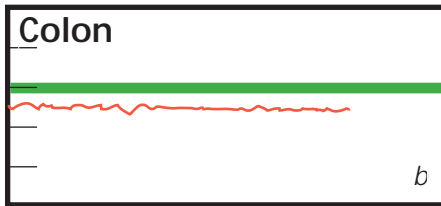

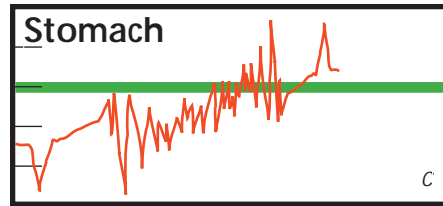

The biofeedback curves correspond to the pulse wave of an organ, which we know from the TCM or Ayurveda Pulse Diagnosis. This pulse wave is produced by the predominated life energy (Prana, Chi). The activities of the elements are revealed in the vibrations and amplitudes shown on the Biopulsar's organ graph lines.

The Biopulsar Hemisphere Diagnosis

Through the measuring of both the right and left hand reflex zones we receive a precise and complex energy diagnosis simultaneously (hemisphere diagnostic). There are always two separate biofeedback graphs for each of the 48 reflex zones, which presents the energy potential of the left and right side of the body simultaneously. The motor and also the sensory side are energizing every organ. Because generally the left side of the body is controlled by the right brain and the right side of the body by the left brain, hemisphere activity statements can be made about the sympathetic and parasympathetic enervation of the respective organs, of the left and right sided meridian potential, the mental activity and conflicts, and also of the consciousness and subconsciousness. In the case of illness there are often asymmetries between the left and right body that exist.

AURA GRAPH
Picture 1: Vitality Scale

Picture 2a-d: Biofeedback Curves

The two measurements—the left versus the right side—give information regarding which reflex zones or meridians have an energetic equilibrium imbalance. The further the respective organs deviate from each other in the energetic left and right, the less in this respect are both brain halves integrated.

Also here applies the principle: The more accurate the diagnosis, then follows a more goal-directed therapy and in turn a better rate of success to cure the root cause.

The Different Kinds of Pain

To look at pain bio-energetically most pain arises through a disturbed Chi-flow. The Biopulsar reflex zone biofeedback offers a very exact energetic pain diagnosis.

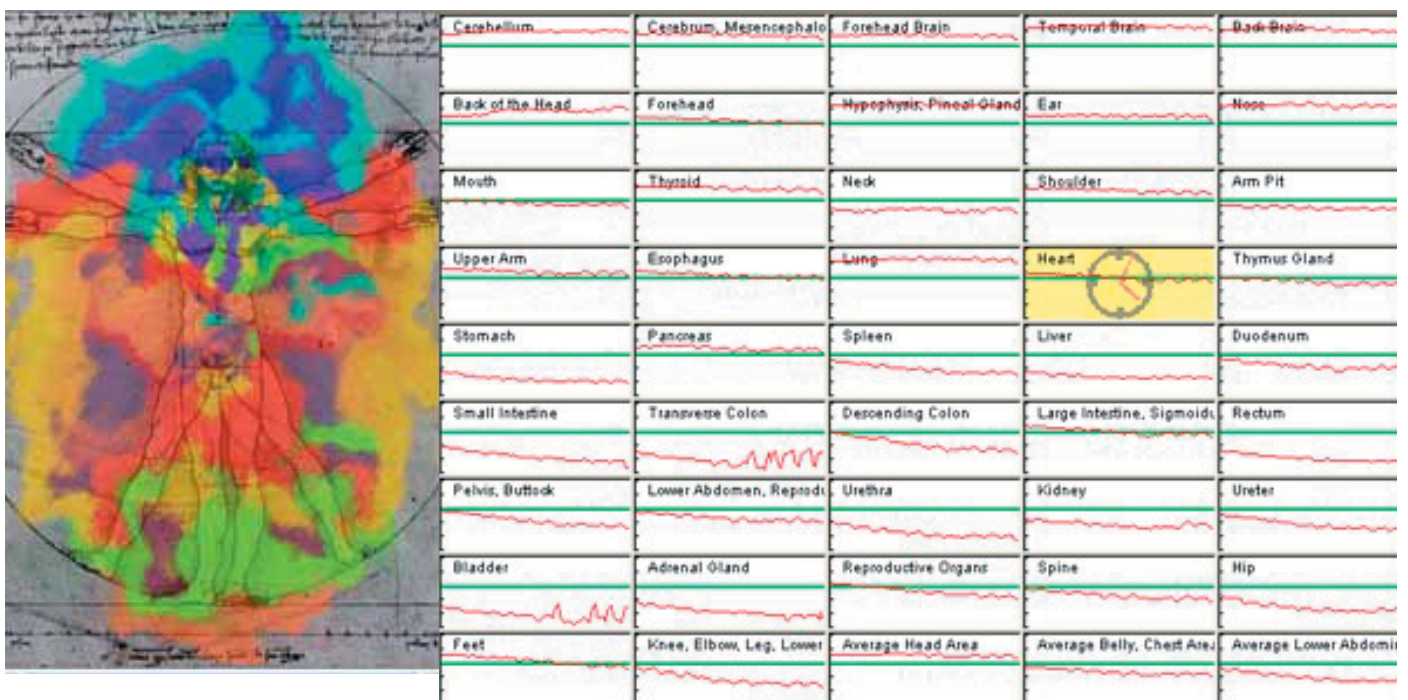

- Pain through emptiness (one side).

Picture 3: Patient 27 years old, 06.04.2003
Diagnosis—Fibrosarkoma

The following constellations can result:

- Pain through fullness (one side of the brain).
- Pain through hemispheric fullness (both sides of the brain).
- Pain through hemispheric emptiness (both sides).
- Pain through tension in the organs that are close together and cannot vibrate harmonically with each other (one sided), e.g. cross-colon emptiness, descending colon fullness, rectum emptiness.
- Pain through hemispheric imbalance (both sides), e.g. lung emptiness (left side) and lung fullness (right side).
- Pain through imbalance in the meridian system (one sided), e.g. lung emptiness, colon fullness = Chi stasis.
- Pain through imbalance in the meridian network (both sides), e.g. kidney fullness (right), kidney emptiness (left).

Picture 4: Patient with Fibrosarkoma (malignant). Biopulsar biofeedback diagnose: Strong nerve irritation and energetic weakness, especially in the area of the root, sexual and solar plexus chakras (upper & lower digestive organs).

If the energetic patterns have been recognized, then a goal directed therapy to the following regulations can happen:

Fullness must be sedated, emptiness must be strengthened (tonic).

The following areas will be measured left and right sided and in reference to each other evaluated:

Cerebellum, cerebrum, forehead brain, temple brain lobe, back head lobe, back of the head, forehead, hypophyse, ear, eye, nose, mouth, thyroid gland, neck, shoulder, armpit, upper arm, oesophagus-bronchi, lung, heart, thymus gland, stomach, pancreas, spleen, liver, duodenum, small intestine, transverse colon, descending colon, large intestines, rectum, pelvis, lower abdomen, kidneys, adrenal gland, urethra, ureter, bladder, reproductive organs, spine, hip, feet, average values of the head, abdomen, legs.

For both sides of the body the Chromalive software gives a detailed therapy plan for the tonation of the harmonizing colours on the reflex zones.

Bio-resonance Medicine Test

Most bio-resonance systems that are on the market are therapeutics and pathogens (Noxen) radiated, which are time consuming and stressful on the human energy field in order to determine the diagnosis or incompatibility. Through these systems miasmas can develop, which in time can manifest themselves into illness. But the Biopulsar System delivers in less than a few minutes –and without alien intervention and miasmas –a complex disturbance field diagnosis. This is similar to a kinesiology muscle test or the RAC method according to Nogier. If the body is fed something harmful then the life energy of a cell, organ or of the whole body is reduced. In kinesiology when the life force decreases, the pulse gets weaker and the arm cannot maintain strength. Similarly, the Biopulsar's biofeedback curves fall down as the energy cannot be held in the organ.

A Biopulsar Remedy Test Consists of the following steps:

- A one-minute disturbance field diagnosis with the Biopulsar-Reflexograph.
- Determination of the main stresses and a corresponding therapeutic recommendation with the help of the "Holistic Therapy Assistant" software.
- Application of the bio-resonance test bands to the corresponding meridians.

- Fastening of the selected test medicine, whole vibrations effect now directly the meridians.
- Validation to the comparison measuring program.

Because every person has her/his own individual energy code and her/his own reaction pattern, the practitioner can quickly see if a medication is causing an undesirable side effect on their patient's system. If the optimal medication has been tested on the patient, then the biofeedback curves harmonize instantly and approach the green line. Also the aura colours change into a healing green/turquoise.

The Biopulsar System shows exactly how a medicine, product, thought process or therapy reacts in which organ or organs and in what way.

Patient example: Fibrosarkoma.

The patient is 27 years old. Two years ago a tumour (1.5 cm) developed on her right upper arm. One year after it was diagnosed as Fibrosarkoma, stage 1 (malignant). An operative removal was recommended and carried out. Now below the operation scar a new tumour is growing, which makes a new operation necessary. Further tumours are developing on the base of the neck and the lower arm.

Additional complains: Heart disease, diabetes, allergies, high blood pressure, swelling of hands and feet. Lifestyle: Stress, likes to eat sweets.

The patient is still young and seems friendly. The energy weakness, which the Biopulsar reflex zone biofeedback shows, is not visibly seen on her. Until now the symptoms have only be dealt with by orthodox medicine. The psyche was not therapeutically considered.

The aura colours in the head area are high frequency. Light blue-violet points to a sensible, sensitive person with good intuition. The shaking, falling graphs point to a strong nerve irritation and energetic weakness, especially in the area of the root, sexual and solar plexus chakras. The digestive system is poor, so that neither the physical nutrition nor the psychical impressions can be digested. Mainly in the area of the colon a large emptiness, instability and irritation shows. Literally "the old rubbish" could not be digested. This shows sexual abuse, which never was mentioned or talked about. This has eaten up the energy and affected the kidneys. Chronic fear and energy weakness also shows in the bladder and kidneys energetics. The progress in life is blocked, which shows in the leg vitality. The internal blocked pressure and the high blood pressure could be renal determined. Because the fibres Arkoma is on the colon meridian (upper arm), it seems to function like a fistula. Interestingly the aura colour on this place is in the area of green.

This article was translated from issue Nr. 8, 2005 of the German magazine CO'MED Complementary -Medicine Magazine.

For more information
call

COLOUR
ENERGY
CORPORATION

Toll Free
at 1.800.225.1226

Leasing or in-house
financing
available

