Personal whole body aura image of Jenifer with organ aura and psycho - energetic interpretation.

Introduction:

The texts of the aura interpretation are to be understood like a translator who translates the language of our soul. Many of these texts have more than one meaning so they address our mind AND soul. Often they do that without using polite forms - they say things directly. We have formulated the texts in this way because moral laws are unknown to our soul. The soul wants to be addressed as personally as possible - closely and passionately.

Our soul communicates beyond difficult thought processes and often has only one way of getting our attention: through symptoms. Our soul expresses itself and sends us messages through physical symptoms; we just need to recognize these symptoms on ourselves. In the Aurascope's text interpretation we address these signs in a more archaic way giving a mental picture of the possibilities.

To begin with, we have to understand that problems in our life arise in areas of our consciousness which are often far removed from us. These problems are born directly inside the soul, but they are still very distant from our daily consciousness, so it is unlikely that we will make the connection.

The Biopulsar - Reflexograph measurements allow us to easily see, through the colours in our aura, what our soul wants to tell us about certain parts of our body. We can take a look at some of our needs, our sorrows, our thankfulness, our fears and our secrets.

Our way of thinking and the formulations in the texts are the fruits of many years of therapy with our patients. We have walked with people through green pastures and dark abysses. We have seen the faces of the soul in various ways. Sometimes we needed to turn away, bow solemnly, or allow ourselves to be touched countless times by tears of joy and sorrow. All of these experiences shaped us as Biopulsar Practitioners, and they continue to influence us today.

Further information about the use of the interpretation texts:

You will receive a personal printout for every organ vibration. There are usually 46 interpretation texts which are correlated to your aura image, and they contain important and useful information. Read the texts in peace and allow them to sink in. If you do not understand them after the first reading don't worry; sometimes our soul understands things before our rational mind does.

If emotions arise in you while reading the texts, just relax and allow yourself to experience them fully until you feel light and free. You may want to have a discussion later about what you experienced with your Biopulsar practitioner, a friend or a family member.

We hope that you will gain a lot of useful knowledge while studying your aura.

Aura Interpretation

Head region: Cerebellum:

Vitality scale 1

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the grey-blue range.

When your cerebellum is in this colour range it indicates that communication between your body, soul and spirit has been disrupted, which prevents further development. This may be due to a shock or a traumatic experience in your past which has not yet been processed. If the energy graphs for other areas of your aura also show general weakness, you may want to consult a doctor or therapist.

Head region: Cerebrum:

Vitality scale 1

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the grey-blue range.

This colour range suggests that you may be experiencing some sort of a mental block. Your ability to consciously absorb and analyze information is limited.

Your learning ability and comprehension may also be reduced due to a weak connection with your higher self. If other areas of your aura show this same colour range, it may be helpful for you to speak with a doctor or therapist.

Head region: Frontal brain:

Vitality scale 10

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the white-pink region.

When your frontal brain is in this colour range, it reflects an excessive accumulation of energy which prevents you from acting or speaking normally. The expression of this nervous tension can sometimes lead to you to overreact to things.

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

This surplus of energy cannot be reduced through language or actions alone. As with many other body areas, when your frontal brain is in this colour range, it shows that you need to work on becoming more grounded.

Head region: Temporal brain:

Vitality scale 9

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the magenta-rose region.

When your temporal brain is in this colour range, it shows that your quest for self-awareness is driven by your desire for answers about your life. Your longing for fulfillment is so great that it pushes you to search for your own personal Eldorado. Deep down, you have a genuine desire to find love and hold onto it forever.

In today's consumer society many ready-made options are available, but these are not what your heart is longing for. Only sincerity will warm your heart. You must understand that fulfillment cannot be achieved by finding simple answers, but it requires the courage to allow yourself to ask questions that come from your heart.

Head region: Occipital brain:

Vitality scale 10

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the white-pink region.

You have run out of room for storing information, so you are unable to absorb any new information that you receive. This creates an obstruction in your normal energy flow, which can result in congestion and stress.

You have more than enough energy to gain deep insights into the connections of life, but first you must find an outlet (preferably on the physical level) for slowly releasing your internal pressure.

Head region: Occiput:

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

Vitality scale 7

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the turquoise-blue region.

Your subjective perception of yourself is changing. You feel a slight pressure and uneasiness, which drives you to alter your self-perception and changes your old point of view. As you get closer to the border of your perception and prepare to leap into new territory, your old familiar thoughts start to feel foreign to you.

You should view this process in a positive light because it represents an opportunity for tremendous development and the promise of a new beginning.

Head region: Forehead:

Vitality scale 7

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the turquoise-blue range.

You have a strong desire to change, but this change has the potential to weaken your foundation. If you are able to leave behind your old habits and accept new thoughts there is an immense potential for development. However, there is a chance that you could lose your self-control and react reflexively to events.

If this area of your aura shows darker turquoise tones, the process of change may be accompanied by restlessness and fear because your consciousness is not yet able to understand what is happening. However, if this area shows lighter turquoise and blue tones, you may feel a sense of wonder rather than fear.

Pituitary gland, pineal gland:

Vitality scale 9

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the magenta-pink region.

Intense joy is a true luxury for the soul, as is the satisfaction of living a free and vibrant life.

You deserve to experience this kind of happiness all the time. By constantly finding new sources of inspiration, you can reach even deeper levels of joy.

Head region: Ear:

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

Vitality scale 7

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the turquoise blue range.

The turquoise range is about gaining a new understanding of one's own environment and the world. When you receive information, it is redirected to new levels of consciousness, widening your horizons. You are ready to further develop your sense of hearing and open up to new frequencies, expanding your awareness.

Head region: Eyes:

Vitality scale 1

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the grey-blue range.

The greyish range indicates that your vision is strongly limited. You notice only what is needed to meet your most basic human needs and you are blind to the romanticism, nostalgia, poetry, beauty and art in life. It is as if the beauty of life is hidden from you so that all you can see is the grey in everyday life.

Participating in some form of therapy that helps you to appreciate the artistic and sensual aspects of life may help restore the brightness of your soul.

Head region: Nose:

Vitality scale 8

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the royal blue-indigo region.

A distant mystery attracts you from afar and leads you away in search of answers. Without precisely knowing why, you follow the scent of adventure, which leads you to actions that you cannot initially explain.

It definitely makes sense to search within yourself, but if the mystery cannot be solved, you must return to your normal everyday consciousness so that you do not get lost in your inner world.

Head region: Mouth:

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

Vitality scale 9

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the magenta-pink region.

In this range there is plenty of room for flowery language and an artful manner of expression. As in Rococo style, you playfully search for expression and strive for inspiration. This search leads you away from reason and practicality, enticing you with euphorically intoxicating visions.

There are two opposing forces at play within you - the temptation to remain entirely in this intoxicated state, and your common sense, which regards your actions as excessive and childish.

Neck region: Thyroid gland:

Vitality scale 10

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the light pink-white region.

This colour range indicates hyperactivity of the thyroid gland on the energetic, rather than the physical, level. You have built up too much potential but are still not reacting. All problems must be peacefully solved, and you are constantly receiving attacks from your environment which you allow to echo within you.

The world has waited a long time for your authentic reaction, which you have yet to provide.

Shoulder region: Neck:

Vitality scale 4

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the orange-yellow range.

There is a lot of pain and sorrow in our world, not just in developing countries, but also all around us closer to home. In this colour range, it's not about trying to deny this by donating or doing good deeds, but allowing the pain of the world to remind you of your own need for help, your own suffering. By donating, you acknowledge the suffering of others, making your own pain seem small and insignificant by comparison.

It is important to remember that some of your pain is caused by accepting it like a child and telling yourself: It is my pain, it belongs in my life!

Moving through your own pain may take a long time and a lot of exposure to the pain, but in the end, you will have the chance to reach a new level of consciousness. And that is what makes it worthwhile to face your inner world.

Shoulder region: Shoulder:

Vitality scale 7

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the turquoise-blue region.

When your shoulders are in the turquoise colour range, it suggests that you need to change your life by learning to let go. Your spiritual maturity has now reached the point where it needs one last push to complete the transformation.

You are hanging on to your old identity and habits by a thread. You have the chance to cut this thread, but only if you can summon the courage to completely open your heart and free your soul from shame.

Shoulder region: Armpits:

Vitality scale 6

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the yellow-turquoise range.

Here in the green range, you understand the natural meaning of your body's own scents. Emotionally, there is no resistance against your natural odour, and you recognize the useful function of your perspiration.

This understanding will help you take action to resolve any shame issues that may be associated with your other organ systems.

Shoulder region: Upper arm:

Vitality scale 6

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the yellow-turquoise range.

When the upper arm is in the green range, it indicates a balance of strength. You make sensible use of your strength and you are willing to implement your intentions in a constructive manner.

When there are green tones in the upper arm area it suggests that you are ready to tackle the older issues that still linger in your soul.

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

In the end, you have learned that every battle is lastly a battle against yourself. You understand that the world, despite its many challenges, is never your enemy and you have learned to understand its messages.

Chest region: Oesophagus:

Vitality scale 10

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the light pink-white region.

The connection between consciously taking in and subconsciously digesting (i.e. the oesophagus) is congested. Your emotionally undigested material is piling up over your head and needs to be processed, so you should not swallow anything else from the outside.

All the issues which you have not resolved within yourself are very time consuming and may cost you a lot of strength. There are two options for dealing with these issues - you can throw them away (spit them out) or bring them to an end (process them).

Chest region: Lung:

Vitality scale 9

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the magenta-rose region.

When your lungs are in this colour range, it suggests that there is a deep rift between you and your partner. Since your relationship is so demanding, you believe that it is unquestionably strong.

At some point in time you discovered that your partner was supposedly much too slow in their development and therefore you mentally removed yourself from them. A voice deep within your soul declares that you should be the only person who can make you happy. Although you may be unaware of it, this message has been affecting you for a long time. You must eventually accept that your partner will never be able to completely share their joy with you or make you truly happy.

You need to learn more about what makes a relationship meaningful.

Chest region: Heart:

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

Vitality scale 7

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the turquoise-blue region.

When your heart is in this colour range, it suggests that the rhythm of your life, which is mirrored in your repetitive habits, has grown old and must be changed. Now and then everyone finds themselves stuck and unable to move forward in life. The joy that you once felt has died, and deep within you something is pushing you to make a change.

This change can only occur if you figure out the reason behind your desire to do something different. You also need to learn the mechanisms by which your attempts to relax have led to the development of your old habits.

In order to change, you must let go of these habits and enthusiastically jump into the river of life. After all, what do you have to lose?

Chest region: Thymus gland:

Vitality scale 7

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the turquoise-blue region.

The presence of turquoise tones in the thymus gland, like in most other organs, is related to the process of change. Everyone is familiar with the small death their ego experiences in situations that involve saying farewell, grieving a loss, undergoing a separation, fighting an illness, or facing defeat, for example. In such cases you have to let go of your usual habits and your desire for glamour, and more or less adopt a whole new point of view.

Although the death of your physical body is an inevitability that you must face eventually, the process of dying will lead you into a whole new world. In the same way, your soul wants to experience something new through the release of old habit patterns. But this can only occur if you learn to willingly let go by accepting the natural cycle of acquiring and releasing things.

Abdominal region: Stomach:

Vitality scale 5

Aura frequency: harmonic, labile, vibrating in the slightly brownish, yellowish range.

The function of the stomach is not only to digest food, it is also to teach you about yourself by showing you the feelings and sensitivity with which you react to your environment. In addition, it is symbolically connected to the moon and is therefore closely related to your moods and habits. Things often seem to enter your stomach so that they can reach your consciousness more easily.

As a human being, you have the tendency to pay attention to only positive feelings, and this behaviour can quickly become a habit which hinders your development. When your stomach is in the yellow colour range, it shows you which feelings, aside from the pleasant ones, you still need to address.

Abdominal region: Pancreas:

Vitality scale 8

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the royal blue-indigo region.

The worries and concerns of everyday life are hard for your soul to handle. Since you subconsciously believe that hard work must be rewarded, you often try to sweeten your life.

When your pancreas is in the blue range, it indicates that you have reached the point where you are constantly seeking satisfaction. The responsibility of maintaining your own survival has become almost torturous. In order to deal with this, you repeatedly try to achieve complete satisfaction through physical and mental enjoyment.

However, you fail to notice that your need for enjoyment is gradually increasing and overwhelming your pancreas. After all, accepting and loving yourself is much harder than satisfying your momentary desires.

Abdominal region: Spleen:

Vitality scale 4

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the orange-yellow range.

This presence of this colour range in your spleen suggests that skepticism, distrust, calculation, controlling behaviour, lack of openness, insufficient willingness to take risks, criticism and distance have taken over your life. Although these attitudes may be useful in some circumstances, they greatly diminish your strength and vitality. If you want to feel the full power and energy of life within you, you must accept the unpredictability of life.

You often fail to understand the events in your life logically. When these events affect you personally your intellect frequently fails, despite the value which you place on it.

For this reason, you often make the wrong decisions. You notice that something is illogical and respond with skepticism.

You cannot recognize the connections and order in life by looking at the world through your narrow, subjective window. It is very important to understand that as long as you lack trust and love in your life, your energy will remain stagnant.

Stomach region: Liver:

Vitality scale 6

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the green-turquoise region.

The presence of these colour tones in the liver reflects the importance of achieving balance. Since everything in life can potentially be taken too far, you should remind yourself of the wild oats you have already sown, rather than struggling to adopt obligatory moderation.

These colour tones also show that most of your needs have already stabilized at a natural level. You should note that in some areas of life, such as love, it is not necessary to achieve moderation.

Abdominal region: Duodenum:

Vitality scale 6

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the green-turquoise range.

When your duodenum is in the green range, it shows that you have a good connection with your past and therefore you are able to learn from both your good and bad experiences in life.

If your other intestinal organs are also in the green range, it indicates that your overall ability to apply this knowledge to your life is very good.

Abdominal region: Small intestine

Vitality scale 8

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the royal blue-indigo region.

When the small intestine is in the blue range, it indicates that you often perceive your inner world much more strongly than your outer world. Although it may be true that in some ways your inner world has more space than your outer world, this could become a problem if you keep certain things which are crucial to your development hidden within yourself rather than letting them out.

Sometimes it is necessary to let out what you have come to understand and know (usually via language) so that it can be reflected back to you. This process of "talking about it" gives your perspective a final polish from the outer world and rounds it off, so that it can be stored in your conscious memory as something which has been verified.

Abdominal region: Colon:

Vitality scale 6

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the green-turquoise range.

When there are green tones in the colon area, it indicates that it is possible for you to work through memories which have been repressed. The ability to examine unpleasant memories closely and face them in the public eye requires a major shift in consciousness within this colour range.

The colour green also symbolizes openness and reflects your willingness to get to know all of yourself â

Abdominal region: Descending colon:

Vitality scale 9

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the magenta-pink region.

Like a shooting geyser, your old conflicts keep resurfacing and urgently demand to be processed. The giant stockpile of feelings inside you is so large that it creates an enormous amount of internal pressure. Even the slightest provocation can shake your emotional foundation and cause you to overreact.

Your attention rapidly shifts from one subject to the next and your stress sets off fireworks of rage inside you. When your descending colon is in the purple colour range, this explosiveness creates an excessive euphoria that makes you want to solve every problem and process everything all at once. Unfortunately, life is not that simple.

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

You must chip away at the mountain of feelings within you bit by bit, which will require a lot of focus and patience.

Lower body: Sigma loop, colon:

Vitality scale 4

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the red-orange, brownish range.

When your colon is in this colour range, it shows that your ability to let go on the physical level (i.e. defecation) provides little information about how well you are able to let go of things on the mental level.

If you look back on your life and examine it, you will note that in some areas of your life you have found it easy to let go of material things but difficult to let go of mental or emotional things, such as behavioural patterns and certain ways of thinking.

Therefore, if you only judge your ability to let go by how well you release things on the material level, you are deceiving yourself and will surely be disappointed. You should keep in mind that when you let go of one thing, it will stimulate the process of letting go in other areas of your life.

Lower body: Rectum:

Vitality scale 5

Aura frequency: harmonic, labile, vibrating in the slightly brownish, yellowish range.

When your rectum is in the yellow range, it indicates that you are unable to fully let go. Your alert mind always keeps track of what is happening and it never completely lets go of the reins. Since you never truly let go, you never really let yourself fall.

This colour range also suggests a certain fear that even the slightest lapse in attention will leave you exposed. This state of constant control and alertness makes it difficult for you to achieve a state of complete relaxation and mental recovery. However, it is necessary to note that there is no real answer to the question of how you should let go, since trying to monitor your own process of letting go is counterproductive to the process itself.

Lower body: Pelvis:

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

Vitality scale 7

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the turquoise-blue range.

When your pelvis is in the turquoise colour range, it shows that you have the potential to develop great insight into your own life. However, you often get sidetracked and lose your focus when faced with important tasks and demands. Your inner child, lacking the wisdom to understand the purpose of these challenges, fears the strictness and difficulty of life.

When your pelvis is in this colour range, it shows that transformation is important. You have the chance to view life from a higher point of view and expand your small consciousness a little, thereby gaining more understanding and clarity. This will soothe your spirit and give you a better grasp of life.

Lower abdomen, genitals:

Vitality scale 4

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the orange-yellow range.

This area of the body holds a special significance because it reveals a lot of information about your feelings of guilt and shame as far as your developmental history is concerned. These feelings originate from the lower abdomen and genitals.

Apart from the external reasons for which you feel shame or guilt, these feelings also exist to remind you that your soul once experienced complete unity and that it has a long way to go. But these feelings also remind you that this unity still exists and that your soul has come a long way to be able to tell about it.

You should keep this in mind whenever you feel guilt in everyday life.

Lower body: Urethra:

Vitality scale 4

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the orange-yellow range.

In the urethra, this colour range is related to the evaluation of moralistic ideas. Whether you are aware of it or not, you are constantly engaged in the evaluation, classification, analysis and observation of yourself and your environment. You do this every day on various levels of consciousness.

Over time, more and more aspects of your inner self are deemed unacceptable and are therefore kept inside and hidden from others. This may lead to the development of a sense of shame, which cannot be removed through education alone.

It is important to understand that hiding away certain parts of yourself will prevent you from accepting and loving yourself fully. You must be careful not to let your heart become too cold from a lack of self-love.

Back region: Kidneys:

Vitality scale 4

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the yellow-orange region.

The presence of these colour tones in your kidneys indicates that it is very difficult for you to become involved in a relationship on a spiritual level. Your ego repeatedly asserts itself in relationships and prevents you from developing a "we" mentality. Part of you seems to be afraid that entering a partnership will destroy your individuality.

You expect all of your relationships to be constantly fun and entertaining, whether you admit it or not. This prevents you from settling down and building a relationship with deep roots and a strong spiritual foundation.

If you want to develop this kind of strong relationship, you must first be willing to sacrifice the "I" of your individuality for the "we" of togetherness.

Lower body: Ureter:

Vitality scale 6

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the green-turquoise range.

With their simple and consistent activity, the ureters reflect the areas of your life in which solidity, modesty and consistency, rather than extraordinary creativity, is required of you.

When your ureters are in the green colour range, it shows that you are most likely able to address daily necessities without reducing your consciousness or openness. You understand that there are some unexciting things in life which deserve your attention even though you are striving for higher goals.

Lower body: Urinary bladder:

Vitality scale 7

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the turquoise-blue range.

There are few things worse for your need for safety than having an uncertain future before you. But fate sometimes causes you to leave familiar ground so that it can lead you on to new experiences. For example, external influences may contribute to your feeling uncomfortable in your environment and compel you to leave your home.

However, these are the moments in life which offer the greatest opportunity for change, renewal and transformation. Your first steps on unfamiliar ground sharpen your senses as they expand and reshape your consciousness.

The feeling of free-falling is part of every detachment process and it leaves a purified soul.

Abdominal region: Adrenal gland:

Vitality scale 4

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the orange-yellow range.

The greater your sense of harmony is, or rather, the greater you think it is, the more unbearable you find aggression and the more negatively you react if confronted with the fact that such feelings do serve a purpose.

The natural law of balance will, however, catch you off guard. The allegedly aggression-free behaviour of people in some countries forces people in other parts of the world to act the opposite way, which leads people in our society to identify those who surround them as aggressive or wanting to fight.

When your adrenal glands are in this colour spectrum, it indicates that you have a long way to go before you understand that you yourself are often the trigger of aggression and until you can accept the fact that aggression is sometimes necessary in life to get things done.

Lower body: Reproductive organs:

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

Vitality scale 10

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the light pink-white region.

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the light pink-white region. Everyone is searching for something in their life. When your reproductive organs are in the highest colour range, it shows that it is important for you to go back to the beginning and understand that the answer to every question in life lies hidden at the starting point.

You must also realize that your search might lead you further away from that which you seek. Oftentimes the things that you want to find are not the things that you should find. Your reproductive organs represent, among other things, the origin of humanity. You must stop once in awhile and turn around to face the very ordinary parts of yourself. The answers for many questions in life are often more simple and banal than you would like to admit.

You must realize that without really noticing it, you have moved away from what really matters in life.

Back: Spinal column:

Vitality scale 8

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the royal blue-indigo region.

When your spine is in the blue range, it indicates that you need to carefully examine your life in order to gain a good understanding of it. To do this you must close your eyes to the outside world and direct your gaze inward. You have a source of inexhaustible strength deep within you, but in order to tap into it you must love and believe in yourself. This requires that you withdraw into yourself until, in the silence, you can hear the whimpers of the neglected side of you which will gradually tell you what you need to do in your life.

However, implementing this knowledge in reality is the actual challenge that you must overcome, for the pleasant sides of you have gotten more than enough attention so far. So don't hide your inner world; let all the colours within you shine through to the outside world.

Lower body: Hip:

Vitality scale 4

Aura frequency: low frequency, vibrating in the red-orange, brownish range.

8/2/2011 1:07:18 PM

In terms of body language, no other part of your body speaks as loudly as your hips; terms like free, smooth, erotic and energetic can all be used to describe their movement.

Interestingly, there is much more inflexibility and stiffness in the hips of people living in the West than anywhere else in the world. The orange tones in your hip area show you that you also struggle with this. The hip region is where deep-rooted fears related to sexual and erotic freedom of expression are stored, which is partly why this body region is declared a problem zone by experts.

You yourself know best whether your hip movements reflect what you have been taught or whether they indicate an inner rigidity, and only you can decide whether you will change your hip motion, despite the fear of seeming improper, to regain the freedom of movement which you need.

Leg region: Feet:

Vitality scale 9

Aura frequency: high frequency, vibrating in the magenta-pink region.

The presence of purple tones in the area of your feet indicates that you have tried very hard to succeed in life and that you have come very far. You have met many temptations along the way and you have succumbed to quite a few of them. The purple tones also show that you are open to new ideas. These ideas lure you away from your path and encourage you to take a lot of detours.

You have gradually begun to suspect that all of these temptations and ideas have not brought you any closer to your goal and may even have lengthened your journey. The only reasonable advice that you can be given is to wake up and pay attention to where you are going.

Leg region: Knee, elbow, leg, underarm:

Vitality scale 7

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the turquoise-blue range.

The turquoise tones in the area of your arms and legs suggest that your movements and behaviour patterns may need a fundamental overhaul.

The way you move your body provides a lot of information about your mental and emotional developmental state. Turquoise tells you that it is time for you to question old, routine movement processes and possibly change them. Some of these processes have become mannerisms whose only purpose is to solidify the package in which your soul resides. They no longer give you strength or freedom.

Replacing your old movements with alternative ones will help you reach new states of consciousness, which will open up new opportunities for you.

Average energy values in the head region:

Vitality scale 6

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the green-turquoise region.

When your head region is in the green colour range, it shows that your energy level in this area is relatively stable and that you possess a good amount of regenerative strength.

Average energy values in the stomach and Chest region:

Vitality scale 7

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the turquoise-blue region.

The presence of turquoise tones in this area reflects your impressive ability to heal yourself and to live in a manner that is harmonious with your true nature. The fewer masks you wear, the better.

Average energy values in the abdomen and leg area:

Vitality scale 6

Aura frequency: harmonic, balanced, vibrating in the green-turquoise region.

When your abdomen and leg areas are in the green colour range, it indicates that you have sufficient energy reserves to keep your body-soul-spirit structure stable and to replenish your strength whenever necessary.

Summary

Lastly, please note that an aura discussion with your Biopulsar practitioner is always more informative and detailed than the descriptions in these texts.

During a consultation, patterns and connections between various colours and organs can be discovered, which is not possible with printed texts. Nevertheless, our descriptions are still very helpful because they are packed with information, so they can guide you in a new direction of consciousness.

We advise that you have regular Biopulsar readings so you will continue to learn more about your energy.

Thank you for your trust and hope to see you again.
